DIRECTOR'S LETTER

Dear Figge Friends,

As cooler weather arrives, I extend my warmest greetings to you all! It has been wonderful to see so many of you at the Figge over the past few months, and I look forward to seeing many more of you in the months to come. As always, autumn brings with it a new set of exciting exhibitions, classes, and programs, but also it brings a gentle reminder of the transformative change that can come from ending one chapter and starting the next. This year has been one of incredible growth for the Figge and has set the perfect stage for us to head into 2025 and the celebrations that will mark our historic Centennial Year.

While we eagerly anticipate the coming celebrations, there is still much to see and do between now and then. Artist Leo Villareal brings us new artworks in the exhibition, Interstellar. These works showcase a unique fusion of natural beauty and technological innovation, while an exhibition by Louise Kames explores the beauty of decay, the line between life and death, and what remains after. Equally moving, Prison Fantasies, a suite of prints by David Alfaro Siqueiros, invites visitors to experience the artist's deep empathy of the emotional toll of incarceration.

In addition to displaying these beautiful and deeply powerful exhibitions, staff members have been busy updating galleries throughout the museum so be sure to check out the changes. From the recently installed Lewis Collection and Video Art Gallery to a giant play loom in the Family Activity Center, there is much to explore. Come by today and come back often—there's always something new to experience!

See you at the Figge,

Melissa Mohr

Melissa Mohr | Interim Executive Director

LEO VILLAREAL: INTERSTELLAR

September 21, 2024 - January 19, 2025 | Gallery 311

Interstellar will showcase nine works from light sculptor Leo Villareal's Nebula series. Using LEDs and custom software, Villareal delves into the realms of space, time, and perception. His artistic practice belongs to a tradition that intertwines nature, technology, and human experience. The sculptures emit a hypnotic, diffused light, drawing inspiration from celestial imagery and capturing the dynamism of space through their interplay of colors and shapes. Each artwork features a unique sequence created through generative code, ensuring that no two sculptures are alike.

The exhibition includes selections from Villareal's NFT (non-fungible token) series, Cosmic Bloom, which reflects the ordered randomness found in nature, starting with simple geometric forms that evolve into complex, dynamic layers. These layers result from a blend of human control, engineering, and chance, highlighting the intersection of art and technology.

Leo Villareal is renowned for his large-scale, site-specific light installations. Notably, he is creating Evanescient Field, a light sculpture which will illuminate the Figge Art Museum facade in 2025. Once completed, it will be the largest public artwork in Iowa. Villareal's prominent works include The Bay Lights on San Francisco's Bay Bridge, Illuminated River in London, which connects nine bridges through a single artwork, and Multiverse, a volumetric installation connecting the East and West buildings of the National Gallery of Art.

REVOLUTIONARY ARTIST: THE PRISON FANTASIES OF DAVID ALFARO SIQUEIROS

August 24, 2024 - January 5, 2025 | Lewis Gallery

This fall, David Alfaro Siqueiros's series of lithographs, Prison Fantasies, will be on loan from the Deere & Company collection for an intimate exhibition. Siqueiros (1896-1974) founded the modern school of Mexican mural painting alongside his contemporaries Diego Rivera and José Clemente Orozco. Siqueiros passionately lived his belief that art had the power to revolutionize society.

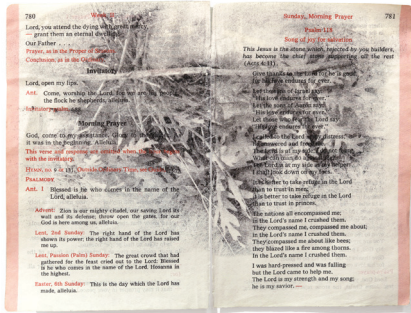

This suite of six lithographic prints shows Siqueiros's work at its most expressive, incorporating the loose, blurred brushwork he developed while studying with Jackson Pollock in New York. Having been jailed multiple times due to his labor-union work and revolutionary political activities, these later works by Siqueiros visually translate incarceration's emotional toll. Included in the exhibition are works on paper from the Figge's permanent collection by Siqueiros's revolutionary artist contemporaries Diego Rivera, Rufino Tamayo, and Elizabeth Catlett.

LOUISE KAMES: I DON'T SEE ANYTHING THAT'S NOT BEAUTIFUL

November 30, 2024 - April 6, 2025 | Gildehaus Gallery

Artist Louise Kames focuses on creating works that explore the beauty of natural decay, the line between life and death, and what remains after. Her exhibition at the Figge will include large woodcut prints and charcoal and pastel drawings of a dying willow tree from her yard in Dubuque. This tree's withering state is a direct result of the continuous droughts caused by climate change. These works complement her earlier installation work, I Don't See Anything That's Not Beautiful. In this series Kames traces the experiences of a woman grappling with dementia by documenting the subtle rituals she used to calm her mind and find comfort. Both series explore mortality and the inevitability of decline and decay, whether brought on by changes to the environment or by an incurable disease.

ART BRIDGES: PARTNER LOAN NETWORK

Now through January 4, 2026 | The Linda and J. Randolph Lewis Wing

Masterworks from the Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art are on view throughout The Linda and J. Randolph Lewis Wing. One such artwork, Stilllives II: Vignette, is inspired by the act of setting a dinner table. Projected on the floor as though you are looking down at a table being continuously reset, the video has 200 layers, including clips of mugs breaking, unfurling tablecloths, and a dog and cat strolling through the frame. Artist Dave Greber considers his videos “moving paintings,” composed of bright colors, fast cuts, and repetitive imagery.

December 7, 2024 - February 23, 2025 | Katz Gallery

The bi-annual College Invitational is back for its 13th installation! Artwork from students of eight area colleges and universities will be on view. Each piece is chosen by the institutions' art professors to showcase campus talent and creativity. Participating institutions are Augustana College, Black Hawk College, Clinton Community College, Knox College, Monmouth College, Scott Community College, St. Ambrose University, and Western Illinois University.

NEW ACQUISITION

MIA FEUER, TOTEMS OF THE ANTHROPOCENE

Mia Feuer's fascination with petroleum extraction has taken her to the Tar Sand mines of Northern Alberta, melting glaciers in the Arctic Circle, and the disappearing Gulf Coast of Louisiana. Her sculptures highlight humankind's exploitation of the environment while demonstrating oil's ubiquity.

Totems of the Anthropocene was created using Feuer's personal collection of "petroliana" (petroleum-related collectibles) where vessels that once held oil and gas now hold synthetic crystals made from petroleum by-products. These sparkling geodes symbolize the allure and corrosive impact of petroleum use. The term "Anthropocene" describes our current geologic era—from the Industrial Revolution to now—marked by human activity's irrevocable impact on our ecosystem.

Mia Feuer, Canadian, born 1981, Totems of the Anthropocene, 2018, found sleds, found petroliana, individually cast and assembled polyester resin crystals, Purchase in Memory of David Schafer, 2024.10, © Mia Feuer

“Mia Feuer’s unique ability to connect art with environmental consciousness shines through in Totems of the Anthropocene. This piece forced David and me to reflect on our own history of consumption. David spent countless hours in his grandfather’s auto repair shop surrounded by these very objects, which now carry a new meaning. My heartfelt thanks goes out to all the generous friends who graciously donated toward the purchase of this piece in David’s honor.” — WYNNE SCHAFER
