From the Director

2020 is a year of two significant milestones for the Figge. In May, we made our final payment on our construction debt for our beautiful building, and in August, we will celebrate the 15th anniversary of the opening of that new space to the public. At the beginning of the year, the staff and I began making plans to mark these momentous events as well as for our 2020 programs and outreach, however, it soon became clear we would have to re-strategize due to COVID-19.

The Figge staff quickly pivoted and adapted to this crisis. We immediately created and redirected resources to our Virtual Museum and social media, where Figge audiences everywhere were able to enjoy educational, entertaining, mindful, and engaging activities from the comfort and safety of their homes. Although we have now reopened our doors, our online outreach will continue and will move forward synergistically with our onsite programming. Please check our website for more details on these offerings.

Our plans for our 15th anniversary have likewise shifted to an online platform, and over 15 days, from August 6-21, we will offer unique virtual experiences, such as studio visits with artists, family art activities, private tours, classical concerts, art talks, a mortgage burning, and much more. In this way, we can bring our entire community together in a safe way to celebrate some of the Figge's triumphs and highlights from the past 15 years.

What we have accomplished since 2005 and during this unprecedented period is only possible because of you. We at the Figge are so grateful to be part of a community that cares and understands the importance of our mission of bringing art and people together. Our Board of Trustees, volunteers, members, and all of you have stepped up and contributed your precious time and financial support, enabling us to continue to enrich the lives of those in our community and beyond and to provide interactions with art, connections with each other, learning opportunities, and respite during an anxious time. Thank you for making this impact on our region and keeping your Figge strong.

Magnetic West: The Enduring Allure of the American West

JUNE 27-SEPTEMBER 20, 2020 | THIRD FLOOR GALLERY | GILDEHAUS GALLERY, FIRST FLOOR

Organized by the Figge Art Museum, Magnetic West features more than 150 photographs by some of the most renowned photographers of the 19th and 20th centuries. Picturing the West as a metaphor for promise and peril, the exhibition explores issues of identity, implications of living in a changing landscape, and the centrality of Indigenous and immigrant communities to the essential dynamism of the region. Including images made by artists from the United States and abroad, the exhibition expands the dialogue of how our view of the West has evolved from the 19th century to today.

Assembled from many public and private collections, the exhibition includes important works by Robert Adams, Edward Burtynsky, Laura Gilpin, Zig Jackson, Elaine Mayes, Wendy Red Star, Cara Romero, Victoria Sambunaris, Wim Wenders, and many others. The exhibition will appear at the Sioux City Art Center October 24, 2020, to January 17, 2021. A catalogue will be published in conjunction with the exhibition.

About Face: Contemporary Ceramic Sculpture

JUNE 20-AUGUST 30, 2020 | FOURTH FLOOR GALLERY

About Face: Contemporary Ceramic Sculpture examines the lineage and influence between the revolutionary generation of ceramic artists working in the figural genre in the 1950s and 1960s and artists working today. Through their work, these artists use the human form as a vehicle to explore issues relating to the body, various social and cultural concerns, and concepts relating to the female/male gaze.

Organized by the Montgomery Museum of Fine Arts, Montgomery, Alabama

Rob Lipnick: Mountains, Faces, Stories, and Stacks

AUGUST 15-NOVEMBER 8, 2020 | LEWIS GALLERY

Throughout his long artistic career, local artist Rob Lipnick has developed a unique system of iconography. The symbols in his ceramics link his work to Jewish tradition, popular culture, and his personal experiences. This exhibition will feature Lipnick's most recent body of work, which consists of large abstract ceramic assemblages that challenge the viewer to discern meaning from their emblematic forms. These works alongside Lipnick's more familiar ceremonial objects will provide insight into his artistic practice.

Seen and Heard: The Art of Empowerment

MAY 9-MAY 2, 2021 | ORIENTATION GALLERY, SECOND FLOOR

Marisol Escobar, known as Marisol, Venezuelan-American, b. France, 1930-2016, Women's Equality, 1975, color lithograph, City of Davenport Art Collection, 1975.32, © 2019 Estate of Marisol / Albright-Knox Art Gallery / Artists Rights Society (ARS), New York

Seen and Heard: The Art of Empowerment features women artists who asserted their artistic empowerment despite social and cultural barriers. In addition to empowering themselves, several of the artists on view use their work to give voice and visibility to the marginalized. Whether pursuing individual goals or communal agency, these artists have contributed to a more inclusive environment in the art world and beyond. Drawn from the museum collection, artwork by Grace Hartigan, Louise Nevelson, Lee Krasner, Alison Saar, and others is now on view.

Didier William: Lakou
exhibition extended to August 23, 2020.

Living Proof Exhibit: A Visualization of Hope

SEPTEMBER 24–DECEMBER 6, 2020 | MARY WATERMAN GILDEHAUS COMMUNITY GALLERY

The passion, courage, and talent of cancer survivors who use art to celebrate and reflect upon survival are showcased in this exhibit. The artworks vary widely in their media and stylistic approaches yet coalesce around the theme of hope. The exhibition is in collaboration with the non-profit organization Living Proof Exhibit. To learn more about Living Proof Exhibit, visit www.livingproofexhibit.org.

Join Us in the Figge's Virtual Museum

At the heart of all Figge programs is the belief that art has the power to transform lives, especially during times of crisis and uncertainty. We hold this belief near and dear as we navigate programming and redefine what it looks like to bring art and people together when we can't always be together in person.

Many of the programs that we have developed have been repackaged over the past few months of transition—we hope you enjoy the assortment of offerings now available through the Figge's Virtual Museum. As we can, we will continue to host modified programs in the museum, such as in-person, small-group classes, like figure drawing sessions that will start up again on Fridays in August. For programs that must accommodate larger groups of people, we will continue to host them online until we determine it is safe to conduct them in person at the museum.

Trust me, we are as eager as you to gather together in person so we can pick up where we left off. Until that time, please join us and experience the transformative power of art as we continue to look, learn, create, discover, and play together!

In March, the governor ordered museums and many other businesses across Iowa to temporarily close in order to contain the spread of COVID-19. The Figge Art Museum was no exception. Figge staff created a Virtual Museum to bring art to the community in a new and innovative way.

The Virtual Museum offers exhibitions, tours, artist series, art education lessons, and activities that are available through the convenience of the Figge's website. The museum's mission remains top priority by entertaining, educating, and inspiring virtual visitors in the comfort of their own homes.

My Museum: The Figge is Important for a Vibrant Community

HUNT AND DIANE HARRIS

Hunt and Diane Harris have been members of the Figge Art Museum since the opening of the building in 2005. "A vibrant community needs a strong base of cultural amenities. The Figge is one of the best regional museums in the country. It is an attraction and center of arts learning in the Quad Cities and an important draw for those looking to move to our area," commented Hunt.

Over the years Hunt and Diane have attended many special exhibitions and events at the Figge. "We enjoy viewing the changing exhibitions and attending programs at the Figge. Our favorite exhibitions are French Moderns, Monet to Matisse, 1850-1950 and The Art of Architecture: LEGO sculptures by Adam Reed Tucker | Photographs by J. Hunt Harris II," said Hunt.

Hunt currently serves on the Figge's Board of Trustees as treasurer and chair of the Finance Committee. He also serves on the Executive and Governance committees and is the incoming chair of the Development Committee. "I enjoy seeing and learning about great art and value the interaction I have with staff, fellow board members, and committee members," he said.

As a trustee of the board and incoming development chair, Hunt recognizes the importance of supporting a cultural amenity like the Figge. "There are so many worthy organizations in the community that it is hard to know what to support. Diane and I try to balance our giving between important areas of educational, human services, and cultural organizations. We believe this is the best way we can support a vibrant community," he said.

This belief is what has motivated Hunt and Diane to invest in the Figge to continue to enrich the lives of the people in our community through the power of art.
